

An illustration of two birds, possibly terns, sitting in a cup-shaped nest made of twigs and dried leaves. The nest is suspended by several dark, twisted branches. The background is a soft, painterly wash of light green and yellow, suggesting foliage. The birds have white heads with dark spots and bright yellow beaks.

The Agnes Kimball Children's Fund

Agnes Waterhouse Kimball

2/2/1914 – 3/3/2014

“We smile and hope you will smile as you read”

A generous gift from the Margolis, Parker, and Gerson families has allowed the Friends of the Conway Public Library to establish an investment fund in memory of Agnes Kimball. Agnes filled her life with children, both her own, Jeannette and Roger, and the many neighborhood children as well. Her house and heart were open to them all. To honor Agnes and her passion for children, this fund supplements funds set aside for children's books and audiobooks.
