April, 2026 - Library Visits

Three of the four covered bridge paintings by Ernest Brown have successfully be reinforced to prevent future warping. A huge thanks to Thomas Brown for helping restore the frames and hanging the paintings in the Great Hall.

The Department of Public Works and Conway Fire & Rescue drew a crowd of over 175 truck enthusiasts for this year's Touch-a-Truck.

Drea and Kathy organized and facilitated an evening book discussion of Jonathan Haidt's The Anxious Generation, which explores the cultural shift from a play-based to a phone-based childhood and its effects on youth mental health. Twelve patrons participated in the program, which offered an engaging exchange of insights, reflections, and ideas. Participants shared they enjoyed this timely non-fiction discussion, which may lead to a quarterly book group for such topics in the future.

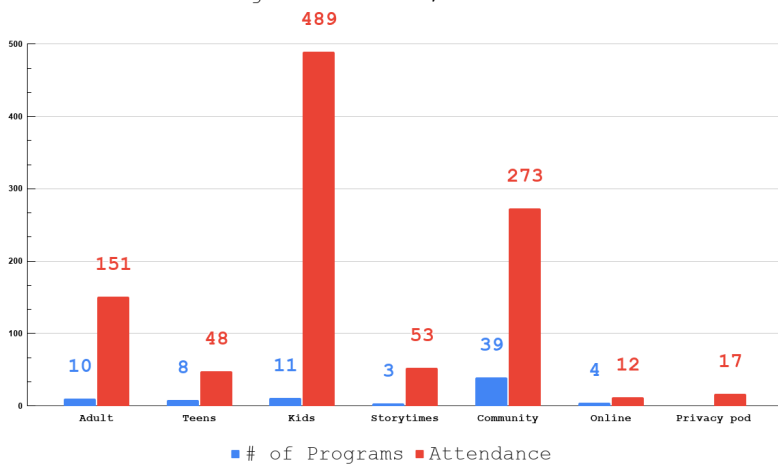

Nearly 40 libraries from across the state sent representatives to the NH Small Library Summit hosted at the Conway Public Library. Jeff presented a round table discussion on working in cooperation with other libraries and town departments.

Annie and Jeff installed a new Koala Kare baby changing table in the family restroom.

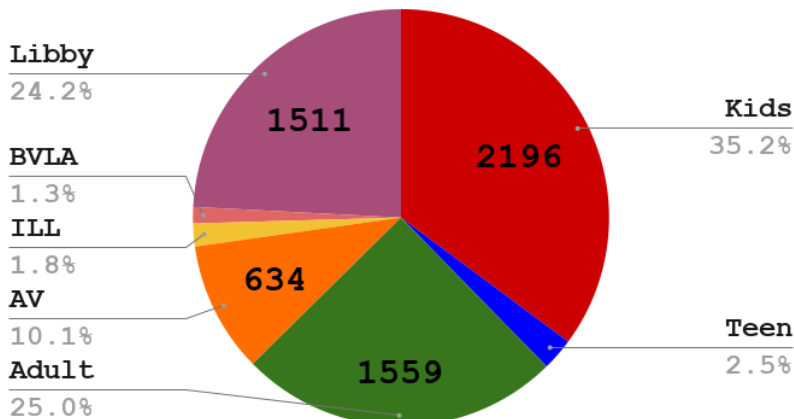

Volunteers assembled on a sunny Saturday morning for our annual Park Clean Up Day.
